Ostend, the famous Belgian resort on the North Sea, was occupied by the troops of Emperor William last Thursday, according to a German official report arriving from Berlin by way of London. If this report is true the Germans have reached the goal for which they aimed. Their forces now are only 65 miles across the sea from Dover and 115 miles from London. On their way to Ostend the Germans also took Bruges which previously was reported to have been deserted and where non-resistance was expected.

The latest French official report does not touch upon the movements of the Germans and the allies nor the Belgian coast line where the one army has been trying to gain a firmer foot hold and the other to throw back the advance. Of the hostilities in the west it merely says that the fighting continues vigorously and that in the vicinity of Lille ground has been gained by the allies. Farther to the east along the battle line that now stretches from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier, a repulse of the Germans near Malancourt is chronicled.

A newspaper despatch declared that the Germans have been hurled back with heavy losses. Another report has it that the Germans have been driven from Lille.

Fighting is still going on between the Austro-German and Russian armies near Warsaw and the Galician fortress of Przemysl continues to hold out against the attacks of the Russians.

In the south the Serbian and Montenegrin troops claim a victory at Glavinatz, Bosnia, over the Austrians. Commandants representing all the France Free State north of Bloemfontain have placed their services at the disposal of Gen. Botha commander in chief of the forces of the Union of South Africa.

The Marquis Di San Giuliano, Italian minister of foreign affairs is dead. The marquis was said to have been friendly to Germany. He was reported to be opposed to the sympathy of Italy for the allies and the hostility toward Austria. The marquis had been in the line of the Marquis Di San Giuliano will not affect Italy's foreign policy.

In the sinking of the British cruiser Hawke by a German submarine only one officer and sixty-two enlisted men of crew of about 400 are known to have been rescued.

The King and Queen of the Belgians are at the headquarters of the Belgian army.

Confirms Progress of Allies.

London, Oct. 16.—The official communication issued by the French war office this afternoon confirms the progress of the allies reported yesterday.

It is not indicated in the communication at what part of the coast the allies fighting line reaches the sea, but the nearest point is twenty-two miles from Ypres and is close to the Franco-Belgian frontier. This, however, is much nearer Dunkirk than Ostend which the Germans are reported to have occupied today and the presumption, based on knowledge of the German movements, is that the line of the allies is in a more northerly direction and consequently is nearer thirty than twenty miles in length.

The line would seem to be a bar to an advance by the Germans along the coast, which doubtless was their plan when their cavalry made a dash toward Calais.

With both the belligerent lines reaching to the sea, there now can be no attempts at outflanking by either army. To win success one or the other of the opponents must break through the line and the army having the greatest number of men and the ability to move them to a chosen point seemingly has the better chance to succeed in this attempt.

The Germans, it is believed here, are certain to try to make a breach in the allies line, but just where is known only to themselves and to the French and British commanders who are receiving reports from their aerial scouts of any movement in strength.

It is believed however, that, as in this war the armies fight less for position than for lines of communications, the Germans are striking for the outer railway system now in French hands, which runs, from Paris through Amiens and Arras to Hazebrouck junction and thence to Calais and the coast. Thus far, according to the French reports, the allies have repulsed every attempt of the Germans to achieve this object and now have them well pressed back from the threatened railway.

Send German Reinforcements.

The Germans are said to be sending further reinforcements from Germany to stiffen their lines and enable them to resume the offensive. The French are reported to have offered successful resistance to an attempt by the Germans of the advance they made to the river Meuse at St. Mihiel.

All this is drawn from French sources, the Germans having been more reticent than usual with regard to the operations in the west.

There have been no reports of fighting south of the Bruges-Ghent line, which is taken to mean that the forces which opposed the Germans around Ghent have been drawn southward to join their main body.

Any allied force fighting on the coast will have the assistance of British warships, but it is unlikely that these vessels will bombard German forces occupying Ostend or other coast towns, for it would mean the destruction of the towns without gaining any military advantage.

Basel, Switzerland, again reports a defeat of the Germans in the Vosges. There is no mention of this rumor in the official communications although such a defeat has been reported several times from unofficial sources.

Fulfillment of the promise that pressure would be taken off France and Belgium when the big battle commences on the east again has been delayed. The Germans are before Warsaw—in fact fighting has taken place only eight miles from that city. While their advance to the Niemen was a failure the forces of Emperor William apparently have retrieved some defeats of the Austrians in Galicia and advanced as far as Jaroslau, seventeen miles northwest of Przemysl.

The German plan seems to be to have two armies advance along the left bank of the Vistula river while two other armies swing around on the right bank to take the defenders of Warsaw on their flank. This, according to Russian accounts, suits the Russian general staff, who are said purposely to have withdrawn to the Vistula so that they would have the railways at their back while the Austro-German forces would have to advance great distances on roads which at this time of the year are little more than quagmires.

Both Sides Claim Advantages.

Both sides claimed to have gained advantages in the preliminary fighting but these victories and defeats can have little effect on the general result of the battle in which it is estimated nearly 5,000,000 men are engaged. The Russians, it is said, have two and a half million men and the Austro-German force is declared to total nearly two million. The armies cover a front of nearly three hundred miles.

The battle on the east Prussian frontier has ceased. The two armies are facing each other across the border, both doubtless being satisfied to remain where they are until the chief battle in Poland is decided.

This may not be for months, although the Germans it is said, will attempt to gain a quick victory to release their troops for the western campaign.

British Cruiser Hawke Goes Down. One more keel has to be added to the British naval losses in the war, the Cruiser Hawke having been sunk by a German submarine in northern waters yesterday. As in the case of the other ships which the Germans have destroyed by means of the submarine, only a few of her crew escaped. The Hawke like the Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, three other cruisers which have met the same fate, was a Chatam ship, so that town is again in mourning.

The cruiser Theseus, which also was attacked by the same submarine that sunk the Hawke, obeyed the Spartan but nevertheless when so many lives were lost on the Hogue, Cressy and Aboukir when they were torpedoed.

Of the ill-fated vessel's crew three petty officers and 49 men are reported to have been rescued by a trawler, while one officer and twenty men are said to have escaped on a raft. The Hawke is believed to have had on board a crew of 400 men. The submarine which sank her is supposed to have escaped.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—3:05 a. m.—"The German efforts to induce refugees to return to Antwerp are meeting with no success because burgo-master Frank has advised the citizens of Antwerp to wait twelve days pending the result of his endeavors to arrange favorable terms," says a despatch from the Amsterdam correspondent of the Dairy Chronicle.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF BELLIGERENT POWERS

Berlin, Oct. 16.—Via The Hague to London.—An official statement issued here today says:

"The Germans occupied Bruges October 14 and Ostend October 15. "An attempt by the Russians to occupy Lyck (east Prussia) failed with the loss of their artillery and 800 prisoners."

Petrograd, Oct. 16.—The following official communication from the chief of the Russian general staff was given out tonight: "Small engagements have taken place on the front in East Prussia. "The Austro-German troops on October 15 assumed the offensive all along this front between the Vistula river and Galicia. "South of Przemysl we captured three Austrian companies and six officers."

Paris, Oct. 16.—The following official communication was issued here this evening:

"On our left wing the action continues vigorously. Everywhere we have held our own. At certain points we have gained ground and have occupied Laventie at the east of Estaires in the direction of Lille. "There is no important incident to mention on the other parts of the front except an unsuccessful attack by the Germans in the region of Malancourt, northwest of Verdun."

RE-APPOINT LAW EXAMINERS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—The terms of Charles S. Cutting of Chicago, and James W. Watts of Dixon, as members of the state board of law examiners, expired with this term of the supreme court and both were today appointed for a term of three years.

Nothing further has been heard of the movements of the Russian and Turkish fleets in the Black Sea. Constantinople denies a report which never extended beyond that city to the effect that the former German cruiser Breslau, which now flies the Turkish flag, had sunk.

The last of the Belgian wounded, who total 13,000, have reached England and the flow of refugees also has ceased except for some who are coming from Holland and French ports. No satisfactory arrangement has been made for the return to their homes of those Belgians who crossed the frontier into Holland, although the Germans are striving to induce them to do so.

Enter Ostend Thursday Morning. The Germans entered Ostend at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning according to the Daily Mail's correspondent who left that port at the moment of the German occupation.

Their appearance excited a tremendous commotion among the hundreds of refugees who had been unable to get away and stood panic-stricken on the quays," says the correspondent. "There was an outburst of groans and hoots mingled with screams and cries."

"The correspondent got away on a small Red Cross motor boat."

"When we got a mile to seaward," he says, "we stopped to await events. We put out a pinnace and went back cautiously in the direction of the harbor. We were observed by a number of German soldiers on shore who fired on us. We lay in the bottom of the boat and got back to the motor launch safely."

TWO ARE KILLED IN PRISON OUTBREAKTWO CONVICTS ASSAULT NIGHT
WATCH AND DASH FOR LIBERTY

Guard and One Prisoner Are Killed. Two Guards Are Wounded and One Convict Escapes From Folsom, Cal. Penitentiary.

FOLSOM, Cal., Oct. 16.—Captain J. B. Drury of the night watch, and convict George Phelps were killed; Guards Mayer and Cruelle wounded and a life term prisoner from Tulare county named Creek escaped in an outbreak at Folsom prison tonight.

The two convicts, who were cell-mates, lay in wait for the captain of the night watch as he was making his rounds, assaulted him and with two revolvers which they took from him made a dash for liberty. Phelps was sentenced for a daring robbery and Creek was sentenced to a life term for a murder in Tulare.

As Captain Drury stepped into the cell one of the convicts knocked him to the floor. The other pounced upon him, tore away his keys and grabbed his two revolvers, then assaulted Guard Cruelle, but some instinct warned him and he moved in time to miss the full force of a blow from a bludgeon. In a moment shots were exchanged with the guard. When the battle was over convict Phelps lay dead in the prison yard, his accomplice fled toward the stone quarry and men streamed from the prison in pursuit while the occupants of the prison moved restlessly about, wondering who was getting away.

Warden Smith had gone to a political meeting in Sacramento and there was a delay until he could gather a posse and join in the pursuit. Creek it is said has two revolvers but not much ammunition and it is believed he has no chance to escape.

Affirms Verdict Finding Appellants Guilty on Charge of Working Confidence Game

ALTON CANNOT EXACT FEE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 16.—

The supreme court in a decision announced today in the case of John E. Wall et al. vs. Ray Pfanschmidt et al. holds that Pfanschmidt, may lawfully inherit the property of his father and mother and sister, whom it was claimed he killed at Quincy two years ago. The action was a bill to partition certain real estate in Adams county in which Pfanschmidt held an interest.

It was contended in the bill that Pfanschmidt's right to inherit the property of the relatives he is said to have killed was forfeited as a result of the alleged crime. A demurrer to the bill was sustained in the circuit court at Quincy and the bill dismissed.

Pfanschmidt at his first trial was convicted and sentenced to hang but the supreme court granted him a new trial, which is now in progress at Macomb on a change of venue from Adams county. Mortgage on the property which figures in the present case were given by Pfanschmidt to secure notes given his attorneys.

Affirms Verdict Against Bertsche.

In the case of the people vs. Christian P. Bertsche and Charles T. Crane, the supreme court affirms the verdict of the Cook county criminal court, finding the appellants guilty on an indictment charging them with working a confidence game, whereby they are said to have obtained several thousand dollars from Hope McDowry. The Bertsche met the woman when he was conducting a clairvoyant business on State street and is alleged to have obtained $15,000 from her on representations that they were married and that he was to invest money so as to secure a big return.

Has No Right to Exact Fee.

The City of Alton has no right to exact a $100 license fee for the privilege of selling fresh meat, says the supreme court in the case of Herb Brothers vs. the City of Alton. A bill to enjoin the city from collecting the license was dismissed for want of equity in the lower court. The supreme court reverses this decree and remands the case for trial with the directions that the court enter a decree in conformity with the prayer of the bill.

Upholds Pension Act.

The constitutionality of the city civil service employees pension act of 1911 is upheld by the supreme court in the case of Edward J. Hughes vs. John E. Traeger. Hughes, a stenographer in the employ of the city, filed a bill in chancery attacking the validity of the act. A demurrer was sustained by the circuit court and the bill was dismissed. This judgment was affirmed today.

Holds Ordinance Valid.

The supreme court holds valid the ordinance of the city of Chicago creating the offices of second deputy superintendent of police and inspector of moral conditions. The case is that of Joseph Kucharski vs. Mayor Harrison, the city comptroller, treasurer, the civil service commission and Mayor Funkhouser and an appeal from the circuit court of Cook county. Kucharski filed a bill in chancery to enjoin the city from paying salaries to Funkhouser and Danenberg and enjoin the latter from receiving such salaries on the ground that the ordinance was invalid and the payment of such salaries constituted a misapplication of public funds. A demurrer to the bill was sustained by the lower court and the bill was dismissed. This verdict was today affirmed by the supreme court.

School Board Wins Fight.

The majority of the Chicago school board win their fight to compel Michael J. Flynn, city treasurer, to deposit school funds in banks designated by the city comptroller, according to the decision today of the supreme court. Sixteen of the twenty-one members of the school board in the name of the people, filed a petition asking for a writ of mandamus to compel the city treasurer to deposit school money in certain depositories. A demurrer to the petition was overruled and the supreme court entered judgment ordering the writ to issue. The supreme court affirms this judgment.

Wash House Act Valid.

The supreme court today in the case of the people, defendant in error, vs. George W. Solomon, upholds the constitutionality of the act passed by the legislature in 1913, to compel coal mine operators to maintain suitable wash houses for the use of employees. The action was

GARDNER MAKES SPEECH
URGING INVESTIGATIONWANTS PROBE OF PREPAREDNESS OF
UNITED STATES FOR WAR

Declares Country Has Not Awakened to the Meaning of 42 Centimetre Guns and Superdreadnaughts and Time Has Come to "Rub Our Eyes and Look About."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, made a speech in the house today urging the adoption of his resolution for an investigation of the preparedness of the United States for war, "offensive or defensive." He said the country had not awakened to the meaning of 42 centimetre guns and superdreadnaughts, and that the time had come for us to "rub our eyes and look about."

Mr. Gardner said American advantages ended with the fact that English speaking races were a little the best sailors, but suggested that "an efficient officer and a competent seaman cannot make a six inch gun the equal of a 12 inch gun."

"Do you know," he asked, "how many men we need to man our present modest fleet and auxiliaries? About 100,000. Do you know how many we have? About 50,000 in the navy and 8,000 in the naval militia. In other words we have 42,000 raw men to make sailors of before we can mobilize our fleet."

"You have heard of the submarine which the German admiralty tells us destroyed three British cruisers with three successive torpedoes. We might do something of the sort if we had the torpedoes but we have not got them. We only have about 1,000 torpedoes, about one torpedo for each tube with which our ships are armed. It is almost as absurd as if we had only one projectile to each gun, except that torpedoes take a year to build and cost $1,000 each."

"The United States, by the Monroe doctrine, has colonized Mexico and South America to colonization. The United States has indicated to the greatest military people which Asia has ever seen that she will have none of them within her borders."

"For both doctrine I am ready to battle and ready to pay. I am willing to be called a dog in the manger if you choose. However, I do not propose if I can help it, to be a toothless old dog, with a noisily bark but no bite to correspond."

CONVICT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER
LEAPS AT THROAT OF WITNESS

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 16.—Frank Repetto, a convict, on trial here on the charge of killing Edward Masters, his cell mate by stabbing him, caused a panic in court today when he leaped over the prisoners' rail and at the throat of Herman Lexow, a prisoner witness.

Lexow telling the court that Repetto had boasted before the murder that Masters was afraid of him, when Repetto began screaming and leaped at him.

Morris Lennon, attorney for the defense and states' attorney, Martin, reached Repetto and felled him.

brought in the Sangamon county case as a test case and an appeal taken to the supreme court on the ground that law in question is class legislation. The supreme court affirms the judgement of the lower court which found Solomon guilty.

Lose Mechanics Lien. The Ambrose company, which was given a decree by the superior court of Cook county, establishing a mechanics lien on the premises of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Co. and Harries Miller, its president, lose a result of the decision of the supreme court today. The appellees filed suit against the Warren Construction Co., for a mechanics lien to cover money due for work done on a building at Jackson Boulevard and Lexington street for which the Warren Construction Co. held the contract. The Warren company was declared bankrupt and the building was in the course of construction and the contract was re-let to another firm. The judgment of the superior court is reversed and the cause remanded for trial with directions to dismiss the appellee's bill.

Cannot Vote For Commissioners.

The woman suffrage act passed by the last general assembly does not give women the right to vote for county commissioners is the substance of decision announced today by the supreme court in the case of the People ex rel Peter J. Jensen vs. Anthony Czarnecki and members of the election commission to leave off the ballots to be furnished women voters at the November election candidates for county commissioners. The writ was ordered to issue.

ITALIAN PREMIER

Portfolio Made Vacant by Foreign Minister's Death

WILL NOT AFFECT POLICY

Marquis Giuliano Expires After Suffering a Month with an Affection of the Heart

POPE SENDS BENEDICTION

ROME, Oct. 16.—The Italian premier, Signor Salandra, will assume temporarily the portfolio of minister of foreign affairs made vacant by the death today of Marquis Antonio Di San Giuliano. This step was decided upon at a council of the ministers this afternoon.

Nothing is known as to the intention of the king or the premier regarding a permanent successor to the office. It is stated from an authoritative source that the death of the marquis will not affect the foreign policy of the government.

Marquis Di San Giuliano died this afternoon after suffering for a month with an affection of the heart. Almost to the end he directed from his sick room the affairs of his office so far as possible. According to the Corriere D'Italia he twice offered his resignation as foreign minister but the premier considered it was best, owing to the difficult situation, to postpone any action regarding the office. It is reported that the German ambassador to Italy when he heard of the death of the marquis said:

"This is perhaps the greatest misfortune for the central empires since the war began."

The doctors agree that the war did not cause the death of the foreign minister, but say that the end was certainly hastened by the arduous work to which he submitted his already weakened constitution.

When death was near, during a moment of consciousness, the marquis turned to those surrounding him, and pressing the hand of Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs Borsarelli, said: "I have done my duty." There he collapsed, and spoke no more. Professor Clementi, a close friend of the marquis, intoned prayers for the dying.

The Giornale D'Italia says that the pope sent a special benediction to Marquis Di San Giuliano before his death. The newspaper adds:

"This act of high piety towards a political personage who, as a deputy and as a minister was inspired in his work through a pure sense of patriotism to United Italy has rendered the new pope more august and more venerable to Italians."

The newspaper expresses the opinion that Marquis Di San Giuliano was the first Italian minister at the point of death to receive a papal benediction.

The body of the marquis dressed in the uniform of a minister, is lying in state. Around his neck is the grand collar of the Order of the Annunciation and on the uniform are arranged 172 decorations.

WILL TAKE TEN DAYS BEFORE
CANAL IS READY FOR TRAFFIC

PANAMA, Oct. 16.—Colonel George W. Goethals, governor of the Panama canal zone tonight said it would be ten days before the canal would again be ready for traffic, which has been suspended as a result of the landslide on the east side of the waterway north of Gold Hill, Wednesday night.

Colonel Goethals said that he would have the channel ready for thirty foot draft ships by October 27, barring accidents. It is planned by then to have the channel 100 feet wide and thirty feet deep along the west bank where the channel was least affected. In that section there is an average depth of twenty feet. The slide was not as serious as first reported though it will require many months of constant dredging to regain the full width of 300 feet and the depth of 45 feet.

Geo. L. Tipton of Girard, Republican candidate for clerk of the appellate court, is a man of high character and good reputation. He has held numerous positions of trust and has never been suspected of dishonesty, trickery or fraud. He is a man who can be trusted. He is well known in this city, and has many friends, irrespective of party. He is a safe man.

For State Senator.

E. S. Smith, Republican candidate for state senator in this district (Morgan and Sangamon counties), is a man worthy of the support of the voters of the district. He is a lawyer of high standing and of wide experience in public affairs. The Springfield Journal says that he is a quiet, studious, unobtrusive fellow who works without gabble frequently accomplishes more than those who are forever in the lime-light. Smith belongs to the last named class. He has a reputation for accomplishing results without preliminary talk. And he forgets to talk of them after they are accomplished.

"But other folks do not forget. They remember his excellent service in the office of the attorney general of Illinois; they remember his honest and efficient administration of the office of state's attorney of Sangamon county; they know how he is esteemed by clients who entrust their interests to him. What Smith would not say for himself others say for him.

"So it is that Smith is about as well known as any man who ever ran for office hereabouts, despite his disposition to refrain from blowing his own horn. Moreover, what is known of him is all to his credit. There isn't a black mark against him anywhere, personally, professionally or politically.

"Mr. Smith has lived in this city many years. He has been a good citizen, with a good citizen's interest in all public affairs. His experience in office has been supplemented with a wider experience in the ranks. He has a sound mind and plenty of what folks call "horse sense." He is just the sort of man they need in the state senate."

Invasion of England.

During the progress of the war in France and Austria, little thought has been given to the possibility of actual hostilities in the "tight little isle" of Great Britain, and of the horrors that might be brought home to a people not yet roused to its danger. The London Times military expert, however, is calling upon the people to be prepared for just such an emergency and warning them that they cannot rely upon their navy as a shield.

"Now that the war is reaching the climax of its violence," he says, "We must anticipate that all the forces of Germany will be thrown into the conflict and that the German navy will no longer remain inert. We must expect to be attacked at home and must not rest under any comforting illusions, but look the situation calmly in the face.

"From the soldiers' point of view, the naval defense of the British Isles presents difficulties which not even the preponderance of ships can, with absolute assurance, overcome. The length of our coasts, the absence of our best troops over sea, the want of a national army, which is still only forming, the menace of the submarine, which keeps our grand fleet often far from the ultimately decisive point, the Zeppelins, mines and other war conditions more or less novel, throw upon Admiral Jellicoe a burden of responsibility which must not be underrated."

The expert contends that Germany, while acknowledging the uncertainty of success in such an undertaking, probably will hope to keep the British navy engaged by the German ships while transports, escorted by a few of the older warships, slip across and make a landing in England under the protection of mines, submarines and vessels sunk in a fair way.

"There is ample shipping in the German ports for the embarkation of a quarter of a million men," the expert continues. "From the evidence we have had of the calmness with which the German generals sacrifice life to attain objects we can be sure that the loss of 50,000 men in transit would be considered a cheap price to pay for the landing of the remainder of the force in England."

"The South is in the Saddle."

The Chicago Tribune editorially calls attention to a danger that has been increasing tremendously in the last two years, and sounds a warning that thinking men should heed:

"The news from Washington raises a serious question, whether all people living in the middle west will not have to vote against all Democratic congressional candidates.

"The middle west was not seriously offended at the battle cry of Washington, which started two years ago—"The south is in the saddle."

"The middle west has never been 'in the saddle' and has not found the east a particularly light rider.

"But the east never attempted to legislate money from one section to another in the barefaced way that the southern leaders have done during their brief period of power.

"The south is in the saddle! "Southern congressmen, elected by only a handful of constituents, dominate the Democratic party.

"The northern Democratic members attempt nothing stronger than to take orders. The office and perquisites of office are sufficient for their ambitions.

"Thus, middle western Democratic congressmen helped to put through a tariff bill discriminating against their own constituents.

"Thus, they voted for a revenue bill one feature of which was to provide for the forcible transfer of funds from the middle west to the south.

"Most of them voted for the war tax bill, raising money chiefly in the north; and they voted for a 'pork barrel' river and harbor bill to spend this same money in the southern bayons.

"When now that the 'pork barrel' bill is only postponed, not defeated; that if a Democratic congress is elected it will tax northern industries to pour money into southern creeks.

"So far have these politicians progressed that although they have legislated values out of northern securities and industries they propose to legislate an artificial value into southern cotton.

"If our southern rulers were content to be benevolently disposed, we might not complain so bitterly of the supine Democratic congressmen from their bosses' bidding.

"But, unfortunately, we find that rule from the south is like all foreign rule, oppressive.

"If the middle westerners are not willing to make the effort to secure the election of congressmen to represent their districts they must make up their minds to pay heavily in taxes during a period when money will not be too plentiful."

Work for Associated Charities.

The fact that there has been some lack of interest among the contributors to the Associated Charities has made some of the members of the organization feel that the work should be abandoned for the present year. Not only has there been some neglect on the part of contributors but it is also true that there have been more pleas for assistance already this fall than is commonly true. The organization has had some trouble in the past in managing its affairs so that there was no deficit at the end of the year, and the conditions mentioned have made part of the contributors feel that the struggle for this year would be too hard.

Miss Weller, superintendent, said yesterday that the association still has a membership of about 200 and she did not feel that there was any cause for discouragement if the members each and all would take a little more active interest in the work. As a matter of fact, with the prospect of more demand for aid and not even the usual amount of labor for this winter, there seems to be every reason why the organization should have a more certain field of usefulness at this time than in the past. There is some deficit now, but in Miss Weller's view this can be easily taken care of if people are only brought to understand the exact conditions.

The suggestion, certainly seems to be sound that for the coming winter, the Associated Charities have reason to expect that more active service will be required than in other days, and no doubt the present members and others who may be secured, will see to it that the conditions and needs are met in the right way.

Sherman and the Single Tax.

Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman is telling his former audience that Raymond Robins, whom Col. Roosevelt wanted them to send to the United States Senate, is a single taxer. The Senator said that Robins was not only an advocate of that doctrine but that he believes in it. He said he was a member of the Joseph Field commission and that he had contributed, both financially and verbally, to the propagation of that faith.

"Mr. Robins," said Senator Sherman, "is a candidate whom Mr. Roosevelt advises the voters of Illinois to elect to the United States Senate. As United States Senator he would, if he were sincere, promote the single tax idea in that body. He would endeavor to impose upon the government, state or national, his views and embody them in the law, constitutional and statutory.

"Roosevelt now seeks to commit and deliver every Progressive voter in Illinois to Mr. Robins and thereby elect him senator, to the end that the land now held by private owners shall be taken from them and converted into common property.

"It is time for some independent thinking rather than to heed Roosevelt's appeals for Robins.

"This is the 'New Nationalism.' It is taking from those who have and giving to them that have not. It is a leveling of possessions. It is an equality of economic opportunity.

"It is for this Roosevelt has traveled a thousand miles to ask the Progressives to do.

"I condemn the entire theory of the single tax as an economic vagary—a visionary theoretical experiment, a menace dangerous to entice the unwary, to arouse those who may desire to take another's property without paying for it.

"To such base uses has the 'New Nationalism' already come. Is this the goal of social justice as defined by Roosevelt and Robins? If we turn back from this we are branded Bourbons and reactionaries. The Republican party will lose none of its votes on this question."

OLD PAPER CONTAINS WELL REMEMBERED NAMES.

Central Illinoisan Published at Beardstown Was Earnest Supporter of Lincoln.

In looking over some old documents recently Mrs. John Robertson found a copy of the Central Illinoisan, dated Oct. 20, 1864, and she and her brother, G. B. Rawlings, have noted many things in the old paper of special interest to them and in fact to all residents who have been in this community since the date mentioned. The paper was published weekly and the office was over the H. C. Chadsey & Bro. grocery and produce store at the corner of Main and Washington streets in Beardstown.

As might well be expected a large amount of the news matter in the paper relates to the war, and there are many references to Abraham Lincoln. The editorial columns contain a number of strong arguments in support of Lincoln, who was at that time a candidate for the presidency. As older residents will remember, Richard Oglesby was a candidate for the governorship of Illinois at that time, Sharon Tyndale for secretary of state, and our own Newton Bateman for superintendent of public instruction. The candidate for congress from the ninth district, in which Cass county was included, was Major Hugh Fullerton of Mason county; the county candidates which the paper supported were: for circuit clerk, Jonathan Merriam; for sheriff, Capt. James G. Campbell; for coroner, Ephraim Trumbull.

Among other editorials is one commenting upon the first volume of the historical work written by Horace Greeley. The people evidently believed in advertising in those times for fully 70 per cent of this issue is devoted to advertising, for the most part for people resident in Cass county. Among the merchants in business then were Rice & Maxwell, Murry & Murphy, C. French, George Plahn & Co., Harris & Garm, Edward Fish, H. Billings, H. T. Foster, John W. Thompson and M. L. Read & Co.

I once had a dear companion,
Who is not on this earth now,
For Jesus has called her home,
Where the roses of heaven are leaving o'er her brow.

She has gone to a beautiful country,
Where there is no more darkness

Where there is no more death or sorrow,
Where all is happiness and delight.

Though death came sudden, the victory complete,
It was her time to go,
Today she worships, at her Savior's feet,

APPELLATE COURT GIVES DECISIONS IN LOCAL CASES

Verdict Against J. A. Obermeyer is Reserved and Court Declares Intent to Violate Law Was Not Proven—DeFreitas Appeal Dismissed—Instructions Given in Frankenberg Divorce Suit.

The appellate court yesterday handed down three decisions on cases taken there from Morgan county. In the case of John A. Obermeyer, accused of selling liquor in anti-saloon territory, the court reversed the case and remanded it for trial. In the case of "Proc" DeFreitas, who is accused of selling liquor, the appeal was dismissed. The court sent back the case of Mrs. Mary Frankenberg vs. Charles V. Frankenberg with instructions.

Until the detailed opinions are received there will be some uncertainty as to the exact status of the cases. It is understood, however, by attorneys, that in the case of Mr. Obermeyer that the appellate court declared that several of the instructions of the lower court were erroneous and that in the defendant was not given the benefit of right intent, to which he was entitled. Mr. Obermeyer was indicted on the charge of selling liquor, the specific case in point relating to an instance wherein he sold a liquid labeled Jamaica ginger which was 93 per cent alcohol.

The appellate court held that it was not proven that the defendant did not sell this liquid for medicinal purposes and that the fact that someone purchased the liquid and by its use became intoxicated did not prove that there was intent to violate the local option law. The case was taken to the appellate court on behalf of Mr. Obermeyer by W. N. Hairgrove after the defendant had been sentenced to jail and ordered to pay a fine.

In the case against "Proc" DeFreitas it is understood that the order of the appellate court was based upon error in the preparation of appeal writ and that the whole matter was thus dismissed so far as the appellate court is concerned. This is believed by the attorneys to be equivalent to upholding the finding of the lower court and which would mean that DeFreitas must go back to jail and complete the sentence he was serving when he was released subsequent to the filing of the appeal. W. N. Hairgrove is his attorney.

Mrs. Frankenberg, brought suit for divorce from her husband, Charles V. Frankenberg, on the ground of desertion. The case was tried by a jury and the divorce asked for was not granted. Bellatti, Bellatti & Moriarty, attorneys for Mrs. Frankenberg, took the case to the appellate court and this case has been remanded to the lower court with instructions. Mr. Bellatti said yesterday that the effect of the finding could not be interpreted until a copy of the court decision has been received.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The Westminster Guild met Friday afternoon with Mrs. George Guthrie on Park street. The Guild is studying the Indian race and Mrs. Henry Kamm was the leader. There was a good attendance and a profitable afternoon spent. Light refreshments were served.

A pleasant meeting of the Sorosis club was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. G. Ames on Mound avenue. Miss Stella Cole, Miss Ruby Neville and Mrs. Louise B. Inglis gave interesting accounts of their travels in Europe. During the hours light refreshments were served.

A very delightful family gathering was held at the home of Mrs. N. B. Westover, West College avenue, Friday in honor of her mother, Mrs. Luella E. Jones, the occasion being her 81st birthday. Dinner was served at 2 o'clock and the event proved a happy one in every way.

Among those present were C. G. Jones, Springfield; Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Jones and daughter Martha of Woodson; Mrs. Virginia Vasey, Miss Grace McCarty, Miss Blossom Neaseley, Miss Edith Dunlap, Miss Josephine Pyatt and Robert Strawn.

There was a good attendance of members, besides several guests, at the regular meeting of the South Side Circle Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Sperry, 839 Routh street. Mrs. Herman Weber had charge of the literary program, reviewing a book of Maria Thompson Davis, "Andrew the Glad". A palatable two course luncheon was served at the program's close. A brief musical program added much to the pleasure of the afternoon. Mrs. E. C. Carpenter gave an instrumental number and Mrs. C. F. Ehnie, accompanied by Miss Geraldine Sieber, favored the guests with two solo selections.

Miss Margaret Coffman entertained at her East State street home Friday evening for Mrs. John Webb at a miscellaneous rush, which, in every respect was a most enjoyable event. Pretty decorations of autumn flowers added to the appearance of the rooms and contests, games and music served to pass pleasantly the time of the eight guests. ILLINOIS PLAYS NORMAL U. TODAY

FOOTBALL TEAMS WILL CLASH FOR HONOR ON I. C. FIELD.

Visitors Present a Strong Defense and Coach Harmon Has Been Preparing Players to Meet Enemy.—Wanted Game Postponed Until Monday But Pres. Felmev Said "No".

Despite the rainy weather Illinois College and Normal university will clash this afternoon on Illinois field for football honors at 3 o'clock. The continued bad weather was the occasion of Coach Harmon calling up President Felmev of Normal university last night at 10 o'clock, asking if the game could not be postponed until Monday. His reply was that the team could not come at that time.

Coach Harmon put the finishing touches on his team yesterday, most of it being verbal instructions on account of the heavy rain. Physically the men are all in good condition and the only thing both teams will lack to show their strength is a dry field to play on. The wet grounds will not be of much advantage to either team, but always make a game that tires the men greatly.

In speaking of the preparations for the contest the Normal correspondent says, "Normal has a good defense, one which Millikin could not handle with any success and Harmon's team is not thought to be a great deal better than that offered by Coach Price. Normal's line looks to be good, Twomey former local high school player, who later played on Northwestern academy, won a home for himself last Saturday by his work at guard. Owing to his experience, however, he may be switched to full back. The Normal coaches are changing their back field a little. Gossman trying out at half and Schneider may be given a chance at full back in case Gossman earns a back field berth. The teachers have a number of good ends in Deal, Hood, Fred Cox and Gossman.

A card is to be handed each spectator today explaining the fundamentals of the game. Each player will be numbered and these numbers will correspond to those on the card.

DIRECT GENERALS TO STOP FIGHTING AT NACO AT ONCE

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A low pressure storm area, with more moisture under its belt than it could carry, left Tennessee—a dry state—Thursday and since then has upset all the calculations of the United States Weather Bureau according to Henry J. Cox in charge of the Chicago bureau.

Instead of moving eastward, the general direction in which any well behaved storm should travel, the low pressure zig-zagged north to Illinois, where it disturbed conditions with an extra and unexpected rain-storm.

Mr. Cox said there are no records of any storm area misbehaving in such a manner and said the cause probably lay in some condition in the higher atmosphere from which no records were taken.

WOODMEN HAD SOCIAL.

About fifty members of Unity Grove camp M. W. A. No. 132 and a few friends gathered in the Modern Woodmen's hall on the south side of the square Friday night in response to published invitation to be present. It was a very informal affair for without any ceremony those present after a short time spent very pleasantly in conversation, sat down to a very enjoyable supper. The menu consisted of oysters, raw, stewed and fried, which with crackers, celery and pickles prepared by the skillful hands of Neighbors Lou Connors, Lela Gause and Lou Pieper were highly appreciated. AT THE HIPPODROME.

Last night was just about as disagreeable and rainy as could be imagined but that fact did not interfere with a very large audience being present at the Hippodrome for the presentation of Lena Rivers by the Harry Owens stock company. The play is an old favorite founded on the well known story by Mary J. Holmes and the audience found the stage story no less interesting than that of the book. The love story is of the good old type and there are comedy situations which make the presentation most wholesome and delightful. The company will appear in the same bill this afternoon and tonight. Some excellent specialties are presented between acts.

GOVERNOR SUGGESTS CANAL IMPROVEMENTS

Cities along the Illinois river, Hennepin canal and Illinois-Michigan canal are urged by Governor Dunne in a statement issued Friday to secure land and start the construction of suitable landing and wharves for packet boats and river shipping in anticipation of the improvements which has been promised by the governor. The governor expressed his belief that plans for the deepening of the Illinois-Michigan canal channel will be carried out and that soon the state will have established a deep waterway from Chicago to St. Louis and to Davenport, Ia., by way of the I. M. canal, the Hennepin canal and the Illinois river.

Greatest of All Human Blessings

The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant. And among those aids and comforts for expectant mothers is the well known "Mother's Friend."

This is an external application to enable the abdominal muscles to become more pliant, to expand naturally without undue pain from the strain upon cords and ligaments.

In almost every settled community are women who have enjoyed the blessing of this famous remedial and helpful embrocation. Their daughters have grown up to learn of its splendid assistance.

Applied as directed upon those muscles involved it soothes the fine network of nerves with which all the muscles are supplied. Thus a great share of the pains so much dreaded may be avoided and the period of expectancy passed through in ease and comfort.

Anything that adds so much comfort must be counted as a thing indeed. In a little book sent by mail much useful information is given to inexperienced mothers. It tells how to use "Mother's Friend" and how to avoid caking breasts.

It has been prepared in our laboratory for over four years and is known favorably to most druggists everywhere. Get a bottle to-day and write for book to Bradford Regulator Co., 509 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to ask for and see that you get "Mother's Friend."

Do not accept a substitute. What is said herein of "Mother's Friend" is but a repetition of the thoughts expressed by thousands of happy mothers who have successfully used this splendid external application.

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement. Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

RUSSIAN OUTLINES HIS POLICY TOWARD GALICIA

GOVERNOR-GENERAL DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Says Eastern Galicia Should Become a Part of Russia and Western Galicia Should Form a Part of Kingdom of Poland Within the Empire.

London, Oct. 16.—Professor Pares, the authorized correspondent with the Russian headquarters, sends the address delivered on October 15 by the Russian governor-general of Galicia to the correspondents.

Speaking of "the enormous advantage that can be derived from the use of the press," the governor said he was sorry the correspondents were going to stay so short a time, but promised them assistance in "the study of the country." Of his policy towards Galicia the governor said:

"Eastern Galicia should become a part of Russia. Western Galicia, when its conquest has been completed, should form a part of the Kingdom of Poland within the empire. My policy as to the religious question is very definite. I have no desire to compel any one to join the Orthodox church. If two-thirds majorities in any given village desire to conform to the Orthodox church then they should be given the parish church. This does not mean that the remaining third should not be free to remain in its former communion. I am avoiding every suggestion of compulsion, for the peasants pass over very easily to Orthodoxy. For them the question is in no way acute. Indeed, the so-called Unitists consider that they are Orthodox already.

"But it is different for the clergy for whom the question is a real one. I respect all priests who have remained in their parishes and they have not been disturbed. Those who have abandoned their benefices I am not restoring, nor shall I permit the return of any who are associated with any political agitation against Russia.

"A different question has arisen relating to Austrian officials in the town of Lemberg. From persons of means they have now become paupers requiring assistance. Another question is that of credit. Numbers of banks are without their cash which has been taken to Vienna. These banks are sending a deputation to Petrograd to solicit the support of the Bank of Russia.

Referring to the police and the administration of justice, the governor said, affairs at present are in the hands of the local police but that he was expecting representatives of the Russia ministry of justice to look into the question. He continued:

"In certain regions around Lemberg, Nicolaieff, Grodek and other places where there has been severe fighting the population has been left in a state of great distress. In Bukovina (an Austrian crownland bounded on the north and northwest by Galicia) however, there is little distress except in the towns and as crops are good we are importing food into Galicia.

"The relief of distress is being dealt with by committees including prominent local residents, under directors of districts and controlled by a central committee whose chairman is Count Vladimir Bobrinsky. In cases of extreme distress it is being arranged so that money may be given to those in need.

"I have established in Galicia three provinces: Lemberg, Tarnopol and Bukovina. Perhaps we may establish another province, following the line of demarcation of the Russian population which, on the maps of Austrian Poland, is admitted to include parts of the region about Sanok."

TAKE WOUNDED TO LONDON.

London, Oct. 16.—The directors of Belgian red cross arrived in London today with 600 wounded soldiers, the last of 13,000 who have been brought to England.

They left Ostend Wednesday morning, at which time 25,000 refugees besides townspeople were hoping to get away.

As the Red Cross steamer left a Taube aeroplane dropped two bombs, which fell in the water a few yards from the vessel.

WISHES

The blacksmith labors at his forge and mutters now and then, "By George, I'd like to be a banker; it's weary work to swing a sledge and manufacture iron wedge, and fashion plow and anchor. The banker sits around and gloats o'er piles of bonds and stocks and notes, attired in princely raiment, while I must strain my weary thighs to meet my Sons of Milo dues, or make some other payment. The banker's girls are wearing gems, his wife has priceless diadems, all gifts the kind gods bring me, but my good wife and girls, alas, have only brooches of plate glass, and they are wearing ginghams. The banker, shy of brawn and pith, admires the mighty, stalwart smith, all full of red corpuscles; he sighs, "Oh, chee, I'd give my wealth, to have that man's abundant health, his giant bones and muscles! I do not doubt that he can eat a side of mutton and repeat, and feel no indigestion; his stomach takes what it receives, and never balks, and never heaves, and never asks a question. But if I eat a crumb of cake I have twelve knots of stomach ache, my works will be corroded; a sirloin steak would knock me cold—so what's the use of all the gold with which they say I'm loaded?" Complain the mortal be content, and envy not the other gent, whose lot seems so much better; he also sighs for some relief; he has his share of care and grief, as we do, dearer brother."

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS IMPROVE; TRADE CONTINUES IRREGULAR

A Few Lines Exhibit Considerable Activity While Some Depression is Noted in Others—Buying is Cautious.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dun's review will say tomorrow:

"Financial conditions improve in steadiness and ability, but trade in many departments continues irregular and buying is cautious. A few lines exhibit considerable activity due in part to extraordinary war demands, while in others some depression is noted. Corporate and individual economies are being largely put in practice, and while they will ultimately result in a great reserve power, their present effect is to reduce consumption, the immediate buying ability of the people being diminished by reduced wages or profits. With the iron and steel industry working on a fifty per cent capacity basis; with building operations reduced over 30 per cent; with a prolonged period of warm weather interfering with the normal development of mercantile distribution in dry goods and kindred trades; with the railroads suffering from diminished earnings and curtailing the purchase of supplies until the matter of increased rates is determined; with capital conservative in promoting new enterprises; with collections slow and the business caution increased by fear of a longer war than was at first anticipated, the situation presents many features conducive to conservatism.

"Failures this week in the United States were 351 compared with 323 last year; in Canada 52 against 39 last year. Bank clearings were $1,980,716,000, a decrease of 31.7 per cent from last year. Wheat exports were 4,444,811 bushels against 2,456,078 in 1913.

COMMANDANTS DENOUNCE REBELLION IN AFRICA

Officers in Free States Pledge Their Full Support to the Government.

London, Oct. 16.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Co. from Pretoria says:

"At a meeting of commandants representing all the free states north of Bloemfontein, held at Kronstad, a resolution was unanimously adopted denouncing as a blot on the honor of the free state the rebellion started in the northwest of the Cape provinces by Col. Maritz. The resolution pledged the fullest support of the commandants to the government and requested a mobilization of the Burghers to crush the rebellion.

"General Jan Christian Smuts, minister of defence, thanked the commandants for their tender of support. He explained, however, that a mobilization was unnecessary as it would put more men in the field than would be needed.

"The action taken by the Kroonstad meeting is considered significant in view of the fact that hitherto the people of the Congo Free State were lukewarm regarding the campaign and to Germans."

STEAMER LEAVES HOLLAND WITH 2,600 AMERICANS

The Hague, Oct. 16.—Via London.—The Rotterdam, of the Holland America line, sailed early today with 2,600 Americans aboard. Among the first class passengers, of whom there were 1,500 were Mme. Sembrich and Geraldine Farrar. The American minister, Dr. Henry van Dyke was at the pier when the steamer sailed.

The government of Holland is still negotiating with the German government for the return of those Belgians who were soldiers but had discarded their uniforms before crossing the border. The German government is said to be loathe to permit their return to Belgium and is disinclined to make them prisoners of war. It favors having them remain in Holland. No obstacles are placed in the way for the return of the women and children.

A proclamation by the German government of Antwerp endorsed by Deputy Louis Franck calls upon all Belgians to return, every protection to the person and property being guaranteed during good behavior. The German embassy here expects an early solution of the refugee problem. Meanwhile all passports for males are refused by the embassy.

BANKERS' TRUST BOARD IS SUED FOR $99,275

A. C. Morrow Says Stock Was Sold to Him When Concern Was Unsound.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Suit to recover $99,275 was filed yesterday in the circuit court against the directors of the Bankers' Trust Company by Harry C. Morrow of Waite Hall, Ill., formerly vice president of the Bankers' Trust Company. Morrow alleges he was induced to purchase 545 shares of stock in the Bankers' Trust Company at a time when the affairs of the company were not in sound financial condition.

The petition alleges that Morrow was induced to come to St. Louis in April, 1913, to take charge of one of the departments of the Bankers' Trust Company and that he was told he was to be made vice president of the company. Soon after his arrival in St. Louis, the petition continues, the defendants represented to Morrow that if he wished to be vice president he should own a large block of stock.

Morrow alleges he was told the Bankers' Trust Company stock was then worth $200 a share and was paying an annual dividend of 20 per cent. The petition alleges this dividend was paid to a large extent out of the capital of the company. Morrow states he purchased last May 500 shares of the stock and paid $195 a share for it. He says he paid $17,500 in cash and gave notes for $77,500.

Morrow also says he purchased an additional forty-five shares at the same price and paid for the same in cash and by notes. Morrow states he received $6000 in dividends.

The Bankers' Trust Company is now in the hands of a receiver. The individual defendants named are: John E. Franklin, Charles S. Marsh, Lester S. Parker, John P. Graham and Steve B. Hunter.

OBITUARY.

The Journal is in receipt of the following obituary notice of Mrs. E. A. Perry, a former resident of this city. The notice is from a Brunswick, Mo., paper:

"After hovering between life and death for several days, following a stroke of paralysis, which she suffered on Sunday, Oct. 4, Mrs. Cordelia A. Perry, beloved wife of Mr. E. A. Perry, proprietor of Perry's Variety store here, passed away Wednesday afternoon, October 14, at 1:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Perry before her marriage was Miss Cordelia A. Sharron. She was born in Brown county, Ill., and the greater part of her life was spent in that state. She was married there to Mr. E. A. Perry, who survives her. She also leaves two children, Mrs. Cora Daring of Jacksonville, Ill., and M. V. Perry of Peoria, Ill. Two grandchildren also survive her.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry lived in Illinois till about nine years ago, when they came to Missouri to make their home. They came to Brunswick in the early part of 1913, having purchased the Variety store in the opera block, and since that time have been among Brunswick's most respected people.

At the age of 18, Mrs. Perry was converted and became a member of the Christian church, and throughout her life she remained true and faithful to the precepts of that church, a willing worker in its councils, and an obedient follower of her Lord and Master. In her home life she was a kind, thoughtful and loving wife and mother, and among her friends the influence of her splendid character was always felt and appreciated. She was a valued member of the Order of the Eastern Star, also the Rebekahs, and in these societies she was active and interested in the welfare of her sisters of the orders. When she was stricken down, less than two weeks ago, it was seen at once that her condition was serious, and her illness caused deep regret among the many who had learned to know and to love and respect her.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Gresham at the Christian church at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, followed by burial in Elliott Grove cemetery.

WAR AIDS GLASS MAKERS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 16.—The war in Europe has brought many orders for window and plate glass to the manufacturers of the United States, of which industries Pittsburgh is the largest centre of manufacture and has the largest business of any city in the world at the present time.

The executive head of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, the largest concern of its kind, states that his company has received a large number of orders for window and plate glass since the European war shut off imports, and his company has been asked by European manufacturers to assume several big contracts they had taken before war developed.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, $1.00 and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

GIVE FIGURES ABOUT VOLUME OF TEXAS RIVERS.

Geological Survey Makes Public Report for 1912—Data of International Importance.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The determination of the amount of water flowing in the streams of the Rio Grande basin, which covers the greater part of New Mexico, large areas in southern Colorado, and a considerable territory in Texas and Old Mexico, is of unusual importance to that region, which is for the most part an arid agricultural country, entirely dependent on its streams for irrigation.

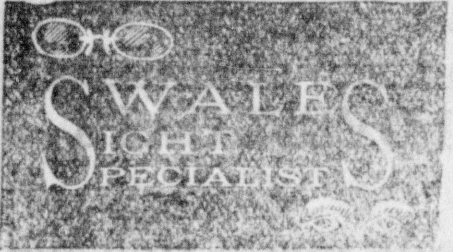

A report made public today by the United States Geological Survey contains records for 1912 of the discharge of the Rio Grande and its principal tributaries, together with that of Brazos River and Colorado River of Texas.

The data are of international importance for it is alleged that the inequitable diversion of the water in both Colorado and New Mexico has destroyed large agricultural values in Mexico. Certain issues have also arisen between the States of New Mexico and Colorado because the Strange, isn't it? When land values are on the increase, everybody is afraid to sell, for fear it might go higher, and they would not get all the profit. When land values have decreased for any reason, everybody is afraid to buy for fear it might go lower, and they would lose. Consider the reasons for land going to the high point. Good seasons, heavy crops, high values of farm products, cheap money. Consider the reasons for the decrease—bad season, crop failures, and high interest.

Now listen—we are SURE of cheaper money soon. We are reasonably certain that we will have better reasons and SURE to have high crop and stock values.

Conclusion—Don't be a dunce if you want to buy a farm, and let the opportunity go by to get a rare, good bargain. NOW, for values are DEAD SURE to increase with alfalfa and ensilage. If you don't believe we have something worth while, step in, and let us show you farms within five or six miles of Jacksonville from $65 to $150 per acre. Let us show you farms where you can pay 1-3 cash, and have the deferred payments at 5 per cent, direct from the owner. But you must DO IT NOW. Costs nothing to investigate, and might do you some good.

WILL PLAY EASTERN CONTESTS ON WATER SOAKED GIRDIRONS

OUTCOME IS MORE UNCERTAIN
THAN USUAL.

With Slow, Slippery Turf it is Probable the Close Formation, Rushing Method of Attack Will Find Favor Over the Open and Forward Passing Game.

New York, Oct. 16.—Eastern football games will be played on water soaked gridirons tomorrow. Since it is the first wet weather test for the teams, the outcome of the principal contests is shrouded with more than the usual uncertainty. With slow and slippery turf, it is probable that the close formation, rushing method of attack will find favor over the open and forward passing game.

Both Yale and Notre Dame, who figured in the first of the inter-sectional games of the season, are well equipped to play both the old and new style. Against the Army last fall the Indiana team gave a wonderful exhibition of forward passing, winning 35 to 13. This season the eleven has not resorted to this method of advancing the ball in the two games played, although scoring 158 points almost entirely by line plunging and end runs.

This is the old Yale system of attack and though the Eli's have used the open game in scoring 61 points against Virginia and Lehigh they are much better versed in attack and defense along the lines of play used for many years at New Haven. While both teams may be expected to use the forward pass should conditions warrant, Notre Dame comes each with a 1914 record for rushing and end runs combined with excellent interference for the runner.

With two such fullbacks at Le Gore and Eichenlaub to head the attack a thrilling contest is expected.

Another game of unusual interest will be played at Philadelphia when the Navy meets the University of Pennsylvania. This is the first time in many years, that the mid-dies have played away from the Annapolis academy field except in the annual contest with the Army. The Quaker's record to date seems to indicate that the team is not as formidable as those of recent years and unless it takes one of the braces for which Pennsylvania is noted the Navy may return home with the honors.

The middies have played a hard, well developed game this fall and although defeated by Pittsburgh have a better record thus far than Pennsylvania with its one victory, one defeat and one no-score tie.

MAY BLAST TITLE HOPES OF TWO BIG NINE TEAMS TODAY

FOUR CRUCIAL BATTLES ARE ON CENTRAL STATES SCHEDULE.

Every Combatant in Iowa-Chicago and Purdue-Wisconsin Games Has Hopes of Winning Championship—Michigan Plays the Lansing Aggies.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Saturday's football schedule of central states includes the following games which last year's scores:

At Chicago—Iowa, 6, vs Chicago, 23.
At Urbana—Ohio State vs Illinois.
At Madison—Purdue, 7, vs Wisconsin, 7.
At Bloomington—Northwestern, 20, vs Indiana, 21.
At Minneapolis—South Dakota, 0, vs Minnesota, 14.
At Lansing—Michigan, 7, vs Michigan Aggies, 12.
At Ames—Iowa vs Kansas, 12, vs Drake, 0.
At Norman—Missouri, 20, vs Oklahoma, 13.

Four games that might be well designated crucial for their effect on the western championship are on the schedule. In two of them, unless they finish with honors even, title aspirations of two more "big nine" elevens should be blasted, for every combatant in the Iowa-Chicago and Purdue-Wisconsin contests has hopes of winning the conference championship. In another game, Michigan, chief battler for western football against the east, is likely to meet its severest test so far this season, playing the Lansing Aggies, who last year triumphed over the Wolverines as well as Wisconsin. In the fourth, Minnesota undertakes what appears on form to be her hardest battle of its schedule to date, meeting the South Dakota crowd.

Fans who remember the gallant rally Iowa made in the Chicago game of 1913 are ready to predict that the Hawkeyes, retaining their squad of last year's stars, will give the Maroons a tough battle, but the Midway offensive is likely to keep the Iowans pretty busy with matters other than piling up touchdowns. Weakened in the line by the injury which took Barron out, Iowa has to contend, its coaches say, against the poor condition of several other players.

Two complete sets of backs have been primed by Coach Andy Smith of Purdue for the fray at Madison. The great Oliphant will be missing, but Captain O'Brien is considered a worthy successor to him, and with him in the first attacking force probably will be Pultz, Oxer and Abrell, while the second quartette will include Van Aken, Dixon, Finn and Applegate.

In preparation to stop the rushes of the Boilemakers, Coach Juneau has drilled his Badgers against what are supposed to be the staple Purdue tactics. What offensive operations have been planned by the Wisconsin leader in the main have been kept secret, but Cardinal rooters generally hope to do better than the tie of 1913.

South Dakota, with a tie against Nebraska to its credit and a dozen veterans in its squad, should force the Gophers to uncover their best stuff, last season South Dakota kept Minnesota busy every minute of the game.

With a number of Macklin's last year's wonders in the firing line, and Michigan not advanced any too far, a close battle with either team the winner may be expected at Lansing.

Illinois expects an easy win over Ohio State. The latter so far has not displayed qualities likely to make it a factor in the championship, while Zuppke's warriors have developed a point piling system that makes them dangerous contenders in the race. On form, Northwestern should beat Indiana by a narrow margin.

Past performances make it look possible that Drake will avenge its defeat by Kansas last year and in the other feature game involving the Missouri Valley honors Missouri, having improved since the opening of the season, should win over Oklahoma.

Princeton faces another hard test in Lafayette, which held Pennsylvania to a no-score tie last Saturday at Philadelphia.

Bill James, the Braves' star and leading National league pitcher, won 27 and lost 7 games.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

EXPORT ACTIVITY ADVANCES WHEAT

Messages from Kansas City State the Trans-Atlantic Call There Is Persistent

CORN AND OATS SHOW NET GAINS

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Renewed activity that stretched to all North American centers put decided strength today into the price of wheat. As a result the market closed steady at 1¢ above last night. Corn gained 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ net and oats 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. In provisions the outcome varied from 2¢ decline to a rise of 22¢.

Discovery that Winnipeg receipts for five days this week had averaged a thousand cars daily less than during the corresponding time a year ago explained to a considerable degree the broadening out of the European demand for wheat. Besides, there were Liverpool advices that offerings were light from all exporting countries and that Australian crop prospects had become adverse. Messages from Kansas City said the trans-Atlantic call there was persistent regardless of the advance or decline of futures, and it was added that virtually all of the wheat at Galveston had been disposed of for shipment across the ocean.

Corn rallied in harmony with reports of material improvement in cash demand. Kansas City sent word of the largest cash business in two months. At first, however, many traders favored the bear side owing to talk of cheap offerings of Argentine corn at the seaboard. Oats hardened in response to evidence of anxiety on the part of foreign buyers. There were also signs of a falling off in receipts.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated Give "California" Syrup of Figs

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste. Liver gets sluggish, stomach aches, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomachache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California" Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California" Syrup of Figs because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California" Syrup of Figs, which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits, so here get the genuine, made at "California" Syrup Company. Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

MAKING BRICK PAVEMENT UNIFORM AND DURABLE

BRICK SHOULD BE INSPECTED
BEFORE SHIPPING.

Much Depends on Uniformity of
Brick and How They Are Laid—
The Use of Cement and Asphalt as Filler—Cement Grout-Filled
Pavement Should Last a Lifetime.

(By G. W. Pickle, Civil Engineer,
University of Illinois.)

Article III.

Some of the important factors in the construction of the foundation course and the sand cushion course of a brick pavement were discussed in a preceding article.

The third and probably the most important course is the brick itself. If any pavement is to give satisfaction, it must first of all be smooth, which implies durability in all block pavements. In the case of a brick pavement this means (1) that the brick must be of a uniform hardness (2) that each brick must have a firm bearing upon the sand cushion, (3) that the brick must be brought to an even surface, and (4) that the edges of the brick must be supported in some way to prevent spalling or chipping.

Too much stress is usually laid upon the hardness of the brick and not enough upon the uniformity. A pavement constructed of comparatively soft brick of a uniform degree of hardness will as a rule remain smoother than one constructed of harder brick of less uniform quality, which will become uneven through wear. The surest way to secure good brick is to have them inspected at the brick yard before they are shipped.

The brick are brought to an even surface by rolling with a light steam roller. If the sand cushion has been rolled with a hand roller before the brick are laid—as it should be—very little rolling with the steam roller will be required. It must be remembered that the purpose of the rolling is simply to bring the brick to an even surface, and, after this has been accomplished, additional rolling does more harm than good.

The last step in the construction is the filling of the joints between the brick with some material (1) to prevent water from reaching the sand cushion and the foundation, (2) to prevent dirt and street filth from collecting in the joints, thus forming a breeding place for germs, and (3) to supply the edges of the brick and to prevent them from spalling. The material commonly used for joint filler are sand, asphaltic compounds and cement grout.

In the early days of brick pavement construction, sand was used almost exclusively. The only advantage that sand has over the other fillers is that it is cheaper, costing about 8c a sq. yd. less. However sand does not entirely fulfill any one of the three necessary qualifications, and is being rapidly superseded by the other and newer fillers. It is doubtful whether sand as a filler is ever justifiable.

Asphaltic compounds are used to a considerable extent. The malted asphalt is poured into the joints from a specially designed can, and the process is repeated until the joints are completely filled.

The principal advantages of the asphalt filler are (1) that it excludes water and filth from the joints, (2) being elastic, it allows for the expansion and contraction of the brick due to temperature changes, and (3) it makes the pavement less noisy under horse drawn traffic than any other filler.

Cement grout is the newest form of filler and is the one recommended by the National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association. Since the brick manufacturers are the ones most affected by the success of brick as a paving material, their recommendation should carry considerable weight.

The grout is composed of equal parts of fine sand and Portland cement, which are mixed until the mass assumes a uniform color. About two cubic feet of the mixture are then placed in a box resting on legs of unequal length, and water is added slowly and the mixture stirred constantly until it is of such a consistency that it will flow readily into the joints without separating. It is then removed from the box in small quantities and poured into the joints until they appear to be filled, making sure that the filler penetrates to the bottom of the brick. The brick should be thoroughly wet by sprinkling before the grout is applied, so that the brick will not absorb the water from the grout. After the first application has settled, and before the grout has set, a second application of a somewhat thicker mixture is made. After this application has settled and before it has set, the joints are made level with the brick by sweeping the pavement with a rubber edged squeegee at an angle with the joints.

When the cement grout is used as a filler, some provision must be made for the expansion of the brick. This is done by placing an expansion joint or cushion about one inch thick along each curb or gutter. Before the brick are laid, boards of the same thickness as the joint and of a width slightly greater than the depth of the brick are placed on the sand cushion and against the curb or gutter, and the brick are laid against them. It is of the utmost importance that the boards extend to the bottom of the brick and that they are not removed before grout has set, or else the grout will flow into this space and the joint will be an expansion joint in name only. Practically every failure of cement pavements from "blowouts" and buckling can be traced to this defect in the construction. After the grout has set, the boards are removed and the space filled nearly to the top of the brick with an asphaltic compound. Also a layer of sand about one-half inch thick should be spread over the pavement and sprinkling to prevent the grout from drying out too rapidly. The pavement should be closed to traffic for at least ten days.

A large mileage of this type of pavement has been laid with transverse expansion joints in addition to the longitudinal joints along the curbs. However, a transverse joint is an element of weakness, and many engineers believe that they are not necessary. There are numerous examples of pavements constructed without them that have not suffered from the effects of expansion. The advantages of cement grout as a filler are that (1) water and dirt can not get into the joint, (2) the edges of the brick are protected and spalling is not likely to occur, (3) the surface of the pavement is quite smooth, (4) it costs a trifle less than asphalt filler, and (5) the cost of maintenance is practically nothing.

Its disadvantages are that (1) it makes a more noisy pavement under horse drawn traffic than the other fillers, and (2) it is more difficult to construct properly, and hence the chances of poor workmanship are greater than in the case of other fillers.

It is the opinion of the writer that a cement-grout-filled brick pavement constructed according to the provisions outlined in these articles will last a lifetime.

TROUBLES OF FARMERS IN SEEDING SWEET CLOVER

Dense Seed Coat, Almost Impervious to Moisture, Makes Per Cent of Germination Low—Uses of Crop
For Pasture, Hay and Seed.

(By J. G. Mosier, Chief in Soil Physics, University of Illinois.)

Seed may be purchased in two forms, hulled and unhulled, that is, still inclosed in the shriveled pod. The former is much more satisfactory in almost every way. In this condition the seed resembles alfalfa seed. The unhulled seed contains besides the shriveled pods around the seeds more or less of other impurities, such as sticks, etc., which render it difficult to sow evenly.

As a general rule sweet clover does not give a high percent of germination because of the dense seed coat through which the moisture cannot penetrate readily. These are commonly spoken of as hard seeds. Nearly all seed contains considerable quantity of these hard seeds that does not germinate the first year. They are more abundant in southern than northern grown seed. In 22 samples from different sources, southern grown seed contained 60 while the same number of samples of northern grown showed 43 per cent of hard seed. The germination was 14 and 37 per cent respectively.

At the Ohio Experiment Station the average percent of germination of 37 samples tested by the botanical department was 29.14. This poor germination may be largely overcome by treating the seed with concentrated sulfuric acid for a half hour. It should then be washed with water for several minutes or until the acid is removed and thoroughly dried. Extreme caution should be used in working with sulfuric acid as it burns the flesh and wooden objects and eats the clothes badly. The vessels used should be either earthen or enameled ware. This fact of poor germination requires the use of a much larger amount of seed than would otherwise be necessary. It is advisable to sow from 15 to 20 pounds per acre of hulled seed and from 20 to 25 pounds of the unhulled seed.

Time of Seeding.

The time of seeding varies somewhat with the nurse crop. Early spring is the best time. The seed should be sown in the same way as red clover with a light seeding of oats or still better, barley. When seeded with wheat it may be sown in January, February or early March so that the freezing and thawing may bury the seed in the soil. This early seeding also gives longer time for the moisture to soften and penetrate the seed coat and should give better germination. Seeding in the latter part of July may be practiced successfully if the season is favorable. Late summer or fall seeding is not advisable in this latitude as it is liable to heave out during the winter.

The preparation of the seed bed seems to be of secondary importance. The crop does well on a well prepared seed bed and it does surprisingly well on a poorly prepared seed bed. Weeds are the great enemy of young sweet clover and it is much more important that the soil be clean of weeds than that the crop have a good seed bed. A nurse crop helps to keep the weeds in subject. On gullied hill land it is not necessary to attempt to prepare a seed bed. The seed may be sown in late winter or a number of young plants transplanted from the roadside. The seed produced will completely seed the area in a few years and transforms this waste land into productive pasture land. It must be remembered that limestone is necessary on nearly all eroded land in the state.

Pasture, Hay and Seed.

Stock easily learn to like sweet clover especially when young and tender. Permanent bluegrass pastures could profitably be seeded to sweet clover since this crop will furnish plant food for the blue grass and result in growing more of the latter than without the clover. Since it is a biennial, in order to obtain the largest amount of green pasture, it should be seeded during two successive years. After that no seeding will be necessary. For temporary pastures sweet clover should be seeded with some other crop such as red, alsike clover or timothy to furnish pasture after the sweet clover has seeded the second year. But little will be eaten after it blooms and becomes woody. The pasture season may be prolonged by clipping with a mower five or six inches high just before blooming. This starts a new succulent growth that will afford a pasture for some time. The value of sweet clover is being demonstrated on many farms and some experiment stations. The Iowa station has carried on some experiments using sweet clover for hog pasture and it has proved to be about as good as red clover.

The following extract from a letter will show how cattle thrive on this much abused plant: "I had a very fine stand this season following a barley crop. Sixty days after cutting the barley, there was a growth of from 15 to 24 inches, I put 29 steers in this field that were just common feeders in only fairly good condition purchased in Kansas City. They were fed nothing else but had plenty of water and salt and in 55 days the average gain was 154 pounds each."

DANGER TO CORN CROP BY THE WHITE GRUB

Plant Some Other Crop is Given as Good Remedy—Fatal Silo Fumes.

Considerable damage has been done to the corn crop in certain portions of the country by the present season by the White Grub. The indications are that much more damage will be done another year. The number of May-bettles, or June-bugs was greater last Spring than the oldest inhabitants ever remember of seeing. The June-bug is the beetle form of the White Grub. The beetles of last spring deposited their eggs in the fields, especially in old meadows, pastures and small-grain fields. The eggs have already hatched into little grubs. These can be found in large numbers at the present time by following the plow, or even by digging up the soil. In one meadow examined a few days ago four grubs were found to the square foot of surface. These small grubs will be much larger by next summer and will do great damage to the corn crop on such land unless some means is taken to control them.

The surest way of avoiding the White-grub injury another year is to grow some other crop than corn. This is not always practicable, but it should be done wherever it is possible. Winter wheat might be substituted. The prospects are bright for a good price for wheat another year. With the yield at 25 to 40 bushels per acre and the price $1.00 or more per bushel, there is good profit in growing wheat. Wheat may be seeded yet this fall on either sod or stubble land if the seed-bed is thoroughly prepared. Any time up to the 20th is a good time to sow wheat.

Where corn must be grown on sod or stubble land next year, the land should be plowed this fall between the 20th of September and the 10th of October. By plowing the land at this time of the year many of the grubs will be killed outright, while many others will be destroyed by birds and some will perish from cold weather. If the sod land could be disced a time or two and even harrowed after the plowing many more of the grubs would be destroyed. Where at all convenient hogs should be turned into the sod land after plowing. Hogs will come as near as anything to ridding a field of the pest.

This treatment may somewhat disarrange the regular system of cropping and may even entail an extra amount of labor, but anything that a farmer may do to lessen the threatened damage to next year's corn crop is justifiable. Do not consider this matter lightly. Great damage was done in 1912, and even greater damage may be expected in 1915 if the grubs are permitted to have their way.—J. E. Readhimer, Agricultural Advisor, Kane County.

FAILURES IN SCHOOL SYSTEM AS SHOWN BY INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Prof. H. A. Hollister Asserts School
Training to Be No Adequate Guarantee of Intellectual Ability—The Training of Skilled Workmen.

School System Fails at Certain Points as Tested by Principle of Intelligence—By H. A. Hollister,
High School Visitor, University of Illinois.

(Article II.)

Under principle one (mentioned in our last article) it was affirmed that "intelligence, skill, and right conduct on the part of a people are fundamentally essential in a democracy." If all the people are to participate in government through the exercise of the franchise, then all should be sufficiently well educated to insure that degree of intelligence as to state and national interests necessary to a wise selection of representatives and leaders in our public affairs. Training merely in the school arts can give no adequate assurance of such a degree of intelligence. A standard equal to that of four years in high school is low enough. With a majority of voters having a much lower standard of general training and knowledge, how can we ever be on anything like stable ground with regard to the great fundamental problems confronting us?

Free Schools For Few.

Yet we are far short, as yet, of disarrange the regular system of cropping and may even entail an extra amount of labor, but anything that a farmer may do to lessen the threatened damage to next year's corn crop is justifiable. The Honey Market.

We cannot foresee what the market will be this winter on honey, but it is in good demand, and the probabilities are that the markets will be about bare by the time spring opens. The price on comb honey tends to rise, and the beekeepers should not be in too big a hurry this year to dispose of their crop. About the only concern that need be felt is to get the honey in comb disposed of before granulation sets in. In this part of the country we can tell pretty well what honey will show early signs of granulation and what will "stand up" a long time.—Am. Bee Journal.

Fatal Silo Fumes.

The recent fatality at a silo at the Athens State Hospital has led a number of our subscribers to ask for the probable cause. Last fall there were similar fatalities in a number of places. Men going into silos that were partially filled were overcome by gas and several cases death resulted. There is little doubt but that carbon dioxide gas was responsible. This gas is given off by vegetable products and it is quite deadly, often overcoming the victim before he can escape it. It settles into wells, depressions in the ground, etc., and a silo with the doors open makes a fine container. Ensilage generates this deadly gas very rapidly the first few days after being put into the silo, and unless the surface of the silage is kept well up to the level of an open door the gas is likely to accumulate and be dangerous to any one entering the silo. There is no danger so long as one's head can be kept above the surface of the gas, and this will be no higher than the bottom of the lowest open door. When the wind is blowing the gas is not likely to accumulate. After a still night no one should enter a silo until after the machinery has been started and the ensilage has been dropping in for several minutes. This will create enough of a disturbance in the air to obviate danger.—Ohio Farmer.

providing free schools of high-school grade for all boys and girls. A large percentage of those in our rural districts have no free access to such schools, while in our cities, drop out to work at or before the close of the elementary-school training. One remedy for this situation would be to extend the upper age limit of compulsory attendance laws to sixteen or seventeen years. In many states county high schools offer free tuition; but these schools are too far from the majority of pupils who would otherwise take advantage of them. The movement is gaining among the state for legislation making the tuition payable to districts in non-high school territory, or by the state. Such legislation occurred in 1911 in Iowa and South Dakota. Better still is the joint or union district law which increases the taxing unit for high school purposes so as to include all territory logically tributary to an established social and commercial center, as a village, town, or small city. This plan works admirably in California when combined with a law providing that a tax be levied on all non-high-school territory in a county for payment of tuition of those from such territory attending high school. The Illinois township high school law as enacted in 1911 has the same effect as far as the union district idea is concerned, but a fully effective free tuition measure is still lacking. The one of 1913 still leaves some districts without free high school privileges.

Training Skilled Workmen.

As regards the training of skilled workmen in different industrial lines, we can scarcely be said to have made a beginning as yet. Recent statistics show that only twenty-nine states have any legislation with reference to practical activities. This includes all grades and forms of training in manual arts, domestic economy, agriculture and trades. Nearly all of these represent permissive legislation with only sixteen states offering any inducement by way of state aid. Much of the training represented is not of a kind calculated to aid materially in acquiring skill of a definite and well organized character. Because of the permissive character of most of the legislation and the absence, in many cases, of such a stimulus as an offer of aid from the state always gives little use has as yet been made of these laws in organizing vocational courses. Likewise, in training to right ideals and standards of conduct we seem to have been, thus far, very deficient. As to just what should be done in this latter case we are still much in doubt; but all may readily agree that there should be a wise and liberal provision for vocational training in our schools if we are to maintain our standing among nations in competition for a market through which to dispose advantageously of our surplus products from the great fundamental industries and in the finer arts of life.

But to stop merely with the training of workmen to skill would be a fatal error if there did not come along with it civic intelligence for the tradesman and industrial intelligence for the professional man and the capitalist. It is in this latter respect, after all, perhaps, that we are most in danger as far as our institutional life is concerned. Without a general industrial intelligence on the part of all classes we are bound to have more or less of clash and discord between capital and labor, thus rendering all great enterprises of a constructive nature uncertain of attainment and unstable even when they seem to have been attained.

INTEREST AMONG DAIRYMEN IN BUTTER FAT TESTS

Department of Dairy Husbandry at University of Illinois Makes Experiments.

Butterfat Test at Illinois State Fair,
by W. W. Yapp, Dairy Husbandry,
University of Illinois.

In order to promote a larger interest among dairymen in testing and to call the attention of passing crowds to the fact that cows differ widely in their productive ability, there is conducted each year at the Illinois State Fair a Three Day Butterfat production test. The State Fair association offers the prizes and the competition is carried on under the supervision of the Department of Dairy Husbandry. This test is open to all dairy breeds and differs in no marked way from a regular official test.

To insure the accuracy of the test and to eliminate in every possible way any tendency toward fraud on the part of the exhibitor, cows which are entered in the test are milked only in the presence of the supervisor. It is the duty of the supervisor to weigh the milk which the cow produces, take an accurate sample of the milk, properly label this sample and place it under lock and key until tested by a separate supervisor. The latter does not know the cow which produced the milk that he is testing.

The premiums offered by the State Fair association are awarded on the amount of butterfat produced in 72 hours. Heifers are not required to compete against mature cows, but are given a separate classification and allowed to compete in a separate class.

From the standpoint of the four principal dairy breeds the test this year could not be considered a great success. Jerseys and Holstein-Friesians, two of the most prominent breeds of dairy cattle, were conspicuous by their absence, not an individual of either breed being entered in the test. On the other hand, Guernseys and especially Brown Swisses were much in evidence, the latter winning heavily in the open classes. Although Brown Swiss cattle are not as yet accorded a high position in the dairy world it must be admitted that they are rapidly gaining in favor and are each year approaching nearer to the type and conformation which is indicative of productive ability in dairy cows.

It is true that a test of three days duration is not an accurate measure of a cow's real productive ability. This may account for the fact that Jersey and Holstein breeders were not eager to enter the test. On the other hand, Guernsey and Brown Swiss breeders should be given due credit as they are seizing every opportunity to increase the popularity of their respective breeds. As a means for calling the attention of visitors at the fair to testing work the test fulfilled its mission. It was not an uncommon sight to see ten or fifteen persons standing about the supervisor while he was weighing and sampling the milk or to see a goodly number watching the bulletin board while the results of each days production were being posted.

SOCIAL SURVEY MADE IN SPRINGFIELD

Complete Exhibition of Work Last of November.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16.—"Play starved" is the condition of the children of the city according to the diagnosis of Lee F. Hammer and Clarence Perry, who spent a number of weeks in studying Springfield's recreation habits and resources. This report on play starvation and methods for relief comes from having the city socially surveyed. Not since the famous Pittsburgh "survey" of 1910 has any American city done so comprehensive a job of looking at itself. The survey was planned by a committee with Senator Logan Hay, chairman. A. L. Bowen, secretary, which includes Superintendent-Senator H. S. Magill, Governor W. A. Northcott, Dr. George T. Palmer, Vincent Y. Dailman, Duncan McDonald, Mrs. Francis P. Ide, Mrs. H. T. Morrison, Mrs. Stuart Brown and Mrs. G. T. Palmer.

The Russell Sage Foundation of New York was invited to take charge through its Department of Surveys and Exhibits, with Shelby M. Harrison as director. During several months last spring and summer a score of leaders in national welfare movement visited Springfield, felt her social and civic pulse counted her heart beats, sampled her life's blood, tested her strength and resources, and then went back to New York. There the facts were classified, figures were tabulated and studied, photographs were collected and the needs were analyzed, and practicable workable plans for growth and betterment were carefully outlined. Then the facts and figures were verified by a score of national experts, cartoons were sketched, and a series of good sized reports, each one a volume, were made ready for the printer. Singly and in one big illustrated book the committee headed by Chairman Logan Hay will ask all Springfield to look at the facts and study the remedies. Then the last of November a strong sub-committee will conduct what promises to be the most complete exhibitions ever made of a social survey. The State Armory has been engaged for the purpose by the committee headed by Robert C. Langhrie. The exhibits will be prepared and a "strim-up" campaign will be conducted by Mary Swain Routzahn and Walter Storey, representatives of the Sage Foundation.

The recreation report, the second of the series, with the one on education which appeared several months ago, and seven reports yet to be published, make up the Springfield Survey.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—Delegates in large number assembled at Boston today and took part in the annual conference of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Plans for health education were discussed at the morning session and representatives of numerous colleges reported on experiences in various phases of community service. These reports showed that during the past year 1952 students, representing eighteen educational institutions, were engaged in various forms of social service. Two hundred and fifty-seven were active in promoting programs of service with men in the industries, especially those unable to speak English. The immigrant department carried on work with thirty-five nationalities and 312 classes were held, enrolling 6,652 students, taught by 507 teachers.

SANTA FE PLANS NEW ROUTE.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 16.—Arrangements are being made by the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad for establishing through passenger train service between Galveston and California points at the beginning of next month. While the new "cut-off" line between Coleman, Texas, and Mexico on the Texas-New Mexico border, a distance of about 325 miles, has been finished and opened to local traffic the putting on of the heavy passenger and freight equipment for thorough service was delayed until the roadbed could become fully settled. The "cut-off" is really a link in a new transcontinental road, as it gives the Santa Fe a direct line between the Pacific and the Gulf of Mexico, with a prospective extension from a point on the system in Louisiana to New Orleans.

HAS ALEXANDER FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer is Found in the Straight-forward Statement of an Alexander Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Jacksonville citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns. This frank and earnest statement by a well-known and respected resident of Alexander will set this doubt at rest.

J. Tankersley, coal dealer, Box No. 7, Alexander, says: "I cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney trouble. They have relieved me of very severe case of this complaint after several doctors had failed to help me. I was induced to try them after seeing what they had done for a friend. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills live up to all the claims made for them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tankersley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

HESSIAN FLY ON VOLUNTEER WHEAT IS A MENACE

University of Illinois Has Called Attention for Need to Plow Such
Wheat Under—Jenkinson & Bode
Company Takes Interest in Campaign.

The Jenkinson-Bode Company is taking an interest in the matter of the destruction of volunteer wheat which is said to be infested with the Hessian fly and which must be plowed under if next year's crop is to be free from the pest. The circular letter which the firm is sending out reads as follows:

"Mr. F. Kohl, one of our stockholders, has just returned from a trip to Champaign and while there in conversation with one of the professors of the University of Illinois, he was asked to help spread the alarm of the infection of the Hessian fly. Professor Hopkins states that any farmer who has volunteer wheat in his wheat (and most of them have) and doesn't plow it under, might just as well not plant any wheat, because this volunteer wheat is infested with the Hessian fly as it never was before. This is a small microbe, which can only be seen under a microscope; and he states it is existing this year in such alarming quantities that unless the farmer heeds this warning, it will mean a complete loss of his crop. Owing to the war in Europe, the wheat acreage will be very large this year. For this reason, it is advisable to heed this warning, and unless this volunteer wheat is plowed under within the next two weeks it will be too late.

"May we ask you to spread this information to all of your farmer customers, because it means as much to you as it does to anyone.

"It is claimed by those who know that the probabilities are that wheat will be high next year. It would be a pity if all the wheat planted will be ruined because of this infection of the Hessian fly now on the volunteer wheat this fall."

FARMERS CAN ACCOMPLISH MUCH BY UNITING EFFORTS

Land in One Illinois County Increased in Value $10 Per Acre Through Organized Effort—Farm Advisers Have Proven Their Worth in Communities Served.

Henry M. Hyde writing in the Chicago Tribune tells how the farmers of Kankakee county by united effort have added $10 an acre to the value of their lands. The advance movement was begun when a farm adviser was secured for the county. The achievements of De Kalb county are also selected.

To add—in two years—$10 to the value of every acre of farm land in a county containing more than half a million acres.

That is the achievement with which the commercial and agricultural club of Kankakee county is credited. It was the first county club in Illinois to organize and employ a regular farm director. Its work began only two years ago last spring, and from the first its farm director has been John S. Collier, who was formerly a professor in the state agricultural college at Urbana. Mr. Collier is paid $3,500 a year and devotes all his time to the job.

Since he began work more than 250 silos for the winter storage of green fodder have been built in the county and two drainage projects, costing over $100,000 and adding about 5,000 acres to the fertile lands of the county, have been pushed to completion.

Many Other Activities.

And these are only two of the many activities of the club and its directors.

Since Kankakee county led the way fourteen other Illinois counties have organized similar clubs, raised money to finance the work, and employed regular farm directors to take charge of it. Six other counties have completed their organization and the raising of funds and are now looking about for competent men for directors. In forty counties more the work of organizing, commercial and agricultural clubs is well under way.

The counties in which farm directors already are working are: Bureau, Champaign, De Kalb, DuPage, Grundy, Iroquois, Kane, Kankakee, La Salle, Livingston, MacHenry, Peoria, Tazewell, Will and Winnebago.

Raise $10,000 a Year.

De Kalb county, which Syracuse is the county seat, has set an example in self-reliance which is inspiring. Refusing financial assistance of any kind, its county club has raised $10,000 a year for four years and has employed W. G. Eckhardt, also a former professor in the state agricultural college, as director. Director Eckhardt, who is paid $4,000 a year, is supplied with a fine suite of offices and with competent assistants and is devoting most of his energy at present to the improvement of soil fertility in the county by the use of lime, alfalfa and other legumes, and artificial fertilizers.

The money for the support of the director and all the activities of the club is raised by a direct appropriation of $5,000 by the county commissioners—any county in the state has legal authority to do the same thing—and by yearly pledges.

These pledges are paid by banks, manufacturers, farmers, railroads, and business men, all of whom see that their own selfish interests are tied up in the prosperity of the farmer.

Altogether there are now, 315 counties in the United States which have organized and employed farm directors.

Back of this movement are so many great and powerful interests and organizations that the danger seems to be rather that the farmers of the country will be fairly swamped with advice and driven frantic with offers of assistance.

There are the agricultural department at Washington, the state agricultural college at Urbana, with its extension work and traveling community adviser; the crop improvement committee of the national grain exchanges, with regular offices and a monthly publication, "The County Agent"; the state bankers' association, with its farm committee and paper, "The Banker-Farmer," to say nothing of farm propaganda of various kinds carried on by the railroads, the stock yards interest, and a dozen or more great corporations selling goods chiefly to farmers.

And when the idea of establishing county clubs and farm directors was first proposed a big Chicago firm offered to devote $1,000,000 to the work, $500,000 of which this money has been distributed—$1,000 going to each county.

Under the provisions of the Lever bill, which passed Congress recently, there is this year $10,000 available for the county agent work in Illinois and similar amounts in the other states. This amount will increase year by year. Provided equal amounts are appropriated by the states, until in 1923 the national appropriation for Illinois alone will be $300,000, with an equal amount to come from the state treasury. Some of the railroads are making direct contributions amounting to $15 for each mile of road in the county, and each county is now authorized to appropriate $5,000 a year towards the county agent work.

What seems to be more needed than anything else at present is some central headquarters through which all the suggestions for farm improvements can pass and which can also keep a check on the large amounts of money which are being spent. Otherwise the present duplication of machinery and of expense seems likely to continue and increase.

WILL HAVE SCHOOL ONLY IN AFTERNOONS

High School Authorities Will Heat Buildings in Mornings and Study Periods Will Be Held in Afternoon—To Install Another Steam Engine.

Another change has been made in the hours of recitations at the high school, and in the 7th and 8th grade buildings, on account of heating the buildings. The schedule calls for recitations only in the afternoon.

In the high school the recitations will commence at 12:30 and half hour periods will be held until five o'clock. In the 7th and 8th grades, recitations will commence at one o'clock and end at 4:30. By this means it will be possible to get in every lesson the same as running on the entire day schedule plan.

The school authorities expect to install another steam engine and the morning hours will be devoted to getting the buildings heated. By this change it will be necessary for the football team to practice in the morning, rehearsals of the orchestra and other such student enterprises to be conducted at that time.

It is expected that this will be the order of recitations until the new boiler is installed which is expected in tomorrow from St. Louis.

New Lockers Here.
The new lockers which were ordered some time ago have arrived and a force of men from the factory will be here next week to install them.

Working on Nautilus.

The Nautilus staff is working each day on the high school publication and they expect to have the first number out by the last of this month. The campaign for subscriptions will be commenced next week.

The members of the two literary societies of the high school are planning for a social in the new gymnasium next Friday night. This will be the first function which has been held in the new gym.

D. D. ROBINSON OF PRENTICE INJURED BY KICK OF HORSE

Undergoes Operation Friday Noon For Grave Intestinal Injury and Remains in Serious Condition—Suffered Accident the Day Before.

D. D. Robinson is in a serious condition at Dr. Day's hospital as a result of a kick from a horse. Grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

The accident happened at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon on Mr. Robinson's farm, four miles southeast of Prentice. He was in a field alone with a young and imperfectly broken horse, but no one was near at the time and he was discovered a few minutes later by one of the men employed on the farm. He was kicked in the abdomen and suffered severe intestinal rupture.

The injured man was carried to the house and a call sent in for Dr. Taylor of Ashland and Dr. Scott of Petersburg. These physicians saw that an operation would be necessary and shortly before daylight Friday morning Dr. J. A. Day was summoned. Dr. Day brought Mr. Robinson to the city via the 10:12 C. & A. train from Prentice and gave the needed surgical attention a short time afterward.

Mr. Robinson is about 45 years of age and is possessed of a degree of health which will in the present crisis stand him in good stead.

LEGISLATIVE VOTER'S LEAGUE MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS

Candidates Names and the Leagues Opinions Thereof Are Listed in Booklet Which Has Just Been Issued.

The legislative voters league of which C. W. Barnes is the president has issued a report setting forth its opinions on the several candidates for state office. The estimate of candidates in this, the 45th district is printed herewith as well as the introductory paragraphs of the booklet.

"The 1915 session of the Illinois General Assembly promises to be the most important that has been held in the state for a generation. The membership will face a number of legislative problems that a long suffering public is insistent upon having solved.

"Citizens have grown tired of shiftless administrative methods in public offices, of the unnecessary statutory curbing of city and county authorities, of the multiplicity and cost of elections with their armies of candidates and of the ever soaring tax rates.

"They are looking to the next legislature for relief. Whether or not the general public aversion to existing conditions has reached the point where it will galvanize the mass of Illinois voters into reform activity will be determined on election day, November 3rd.

"If the statutory and constitutional changes necessary for economical and efficient state and local government are made by the next legislature it must be composed of men of intelligence and action—men broad enough to submerge political partisanship and work solely for the public welfare.

"There have been a sufficient number of men of this type nominated by the various political parties to control the 45th General Assembly. But along with these public spirited candidates are others who would be out of place in the legislature. Some are absolutely unfit while many others, although harmless in themselves, would keep the Assembly from rising above the level of mediocrity.

"Good citizenship has the power to make the next legislature what it will. It struck telling blows in the primary elections and retired scores of undesirable candidates. A percentage of unworthy men slipped through but these can be defeated at the general election if all the voters go to the polls and cast their legislative ballots for the best equipped nominees.

"In making its recommendations the Legislative Voters League has tried to select the men best qualified regardless of political affiliations. In cases where nominees have had legislative experience they have been given the preference over men with equal qualification who lack Assembly records.

"Nomination contests are pending in a number of districts and nominating politics of several independent candidates have been attacked in the courts. Supplemental reports will be made later by the League in these districts if changes of importance are made in the official ballot.

"No estimate of the qualification of Socialist candidates has been made in districts where political conditions indicate that the party strength is slight and where nominees apparently have been made only for the purpose of keeping the party organization intact.
